

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

What you need:

- shampoo
- conditioner
- dry towels
- blow-dryer
- grooming table and grooming arm
- ear cleaner and ear powder
- nail clippers and or dremel to sand nails down
- metal comb
- pin-brush, soft
- curved scissors
- thinning shears

Before trimming dog MUST be combed, bathed, and thoroughly dried.

Bathing:

Show dogs especially the quality of the shampoo and conditioner. Wash the walking portion of the coat with
You can now give you dog a break and let him shake and potty they put him back on the grooming table

Drying:

You can use towels to remove some of the water from the coat. Use the towels to remove most of the water

Brushing and combing:

Start with brushing all of his coat and then comb it thoroughly. You don't want ANY matting. Start combing

Nails:

Use your nail cutter and clip the nails just short of the quick. Be careful! Next use your dremel tool to

Trimming:

Before

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

by Logrus

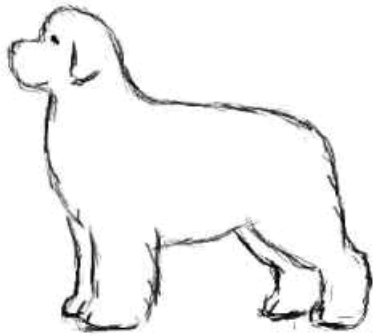

by Logrus

After

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

by Logrus

by Logrus

~~Copyright © 2008 by Logrus. All rights reserved. This document is the property of Logrus and is not to be distributed, copied, or reproduced in any form without the written permission of Logrus.~~

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

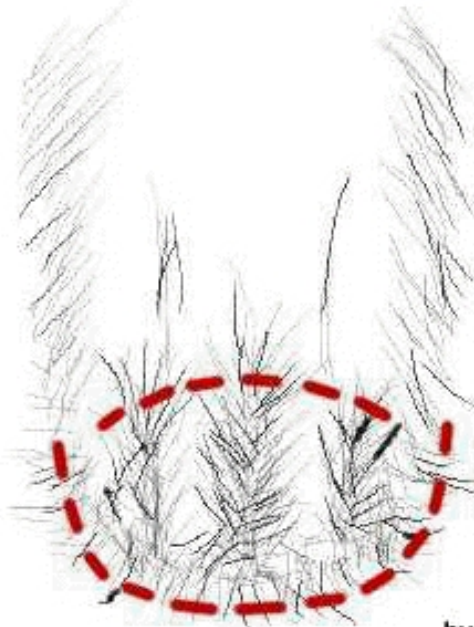

before

by Logrus

by Logrus

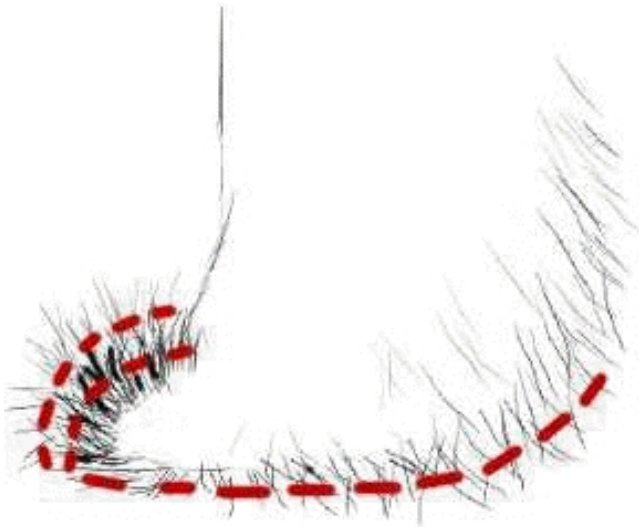

~~When the hair is cut, the skin underneath the hair will be exposed. The skin is very sensitive and the~~

by Logrus

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

After

by Logrus

by Logrus

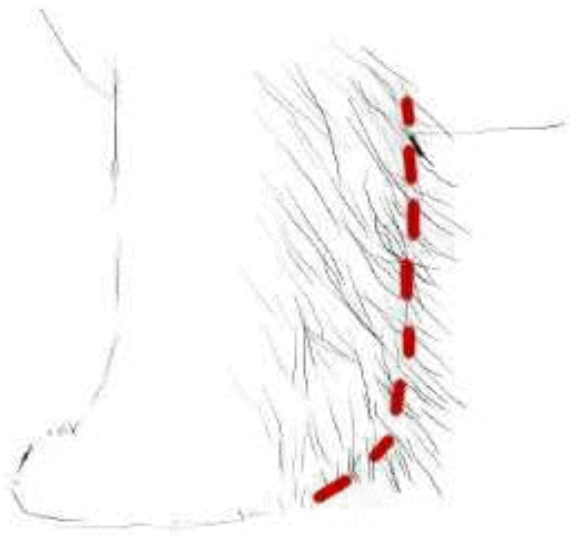

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

~~© 2014 Logrus. All rights reserved. This document is the property of Logrus and is not to be distributed, copied, or otherwise used without the express written permission of Logrus.~~

by Logrus

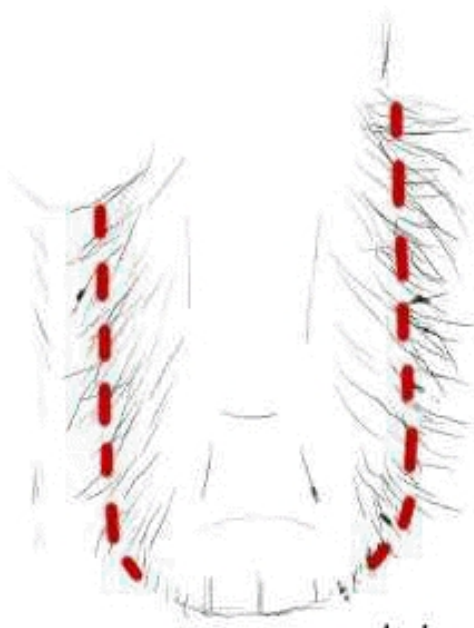

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

Before

by Logrus
After

by Logrus

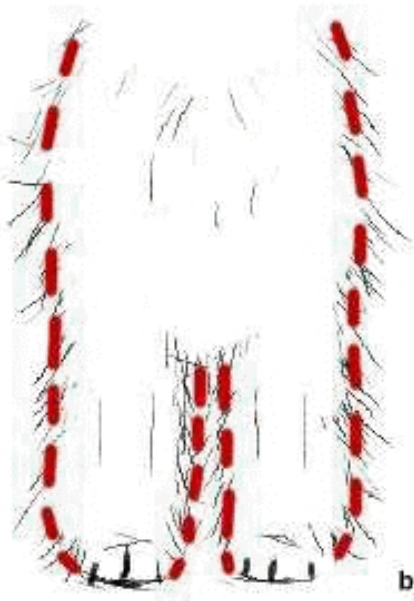

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

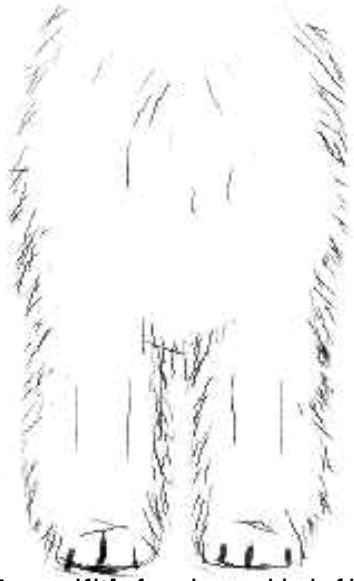

Time at least once a week. The horse should be groomed from the head to the tail, and the shoulders and hip area. No shoulder and

by Logrus

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

16. by Logrus
Bite the ends of the fur on the hindquarters and trim over downward from croup to feet.

by Logrus

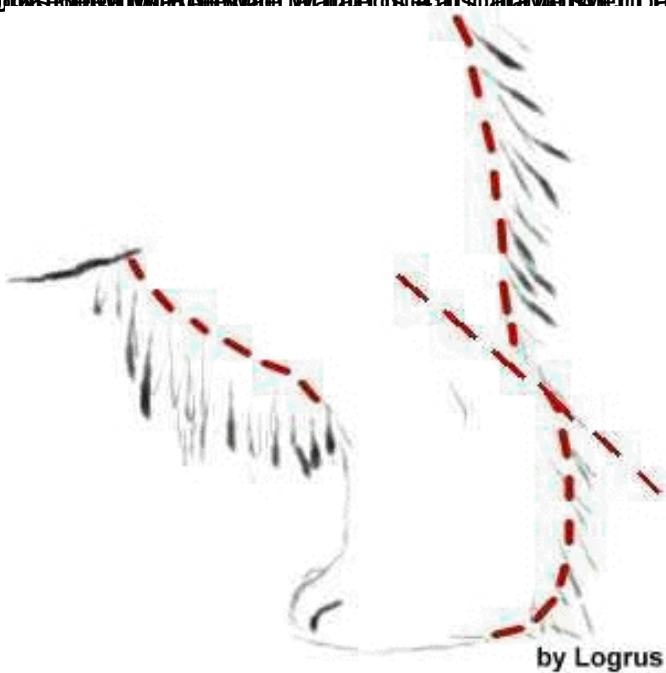

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

~~High-Blade (High-Blade) with a 45-degree angle (High-Blade) and~~

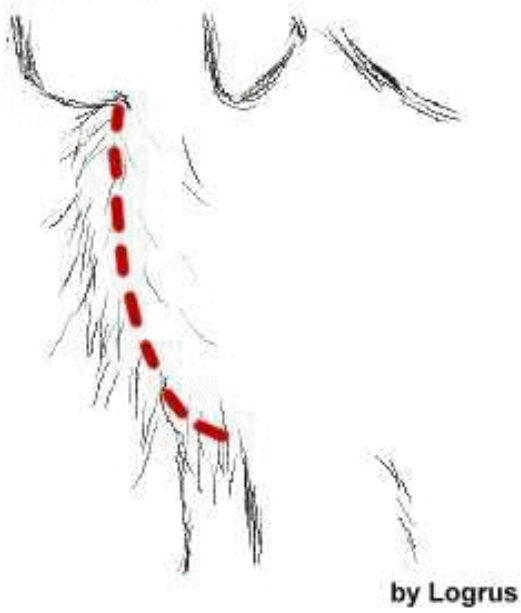

by Logrus

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

to the hindquarters of the horse, and the brush should be used to brush the horse's legs. Especially given

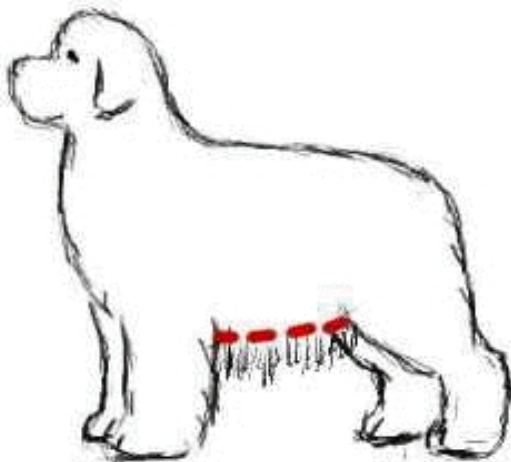

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

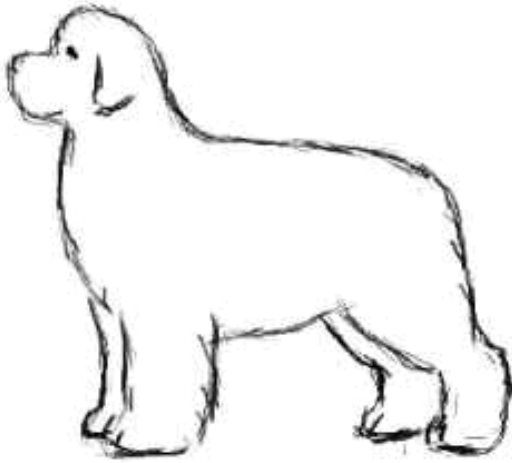

By the time the dog is a little older, the hair on the neck should be kept short and flat, much giving the impression of a clean, well-groomed dog.

by Logrus

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

Step 4: Use a comb and trim under arm pit connecting line of chest with underline. Repeat it with

by Logrus

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

Now look at the Area of your dog in the Area of the Area. The shape of this outline should be

by Logrus

by Logrus

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

36. The horse's head and neck should be held in a position that allows the horse to breathe and see. The horse's head should be held in a position that allows the horse to breathe and see. The horse's head should be held in a position that allows the horse to breathe and see.

by Logrus

Before

by Logrus
After

Grooming

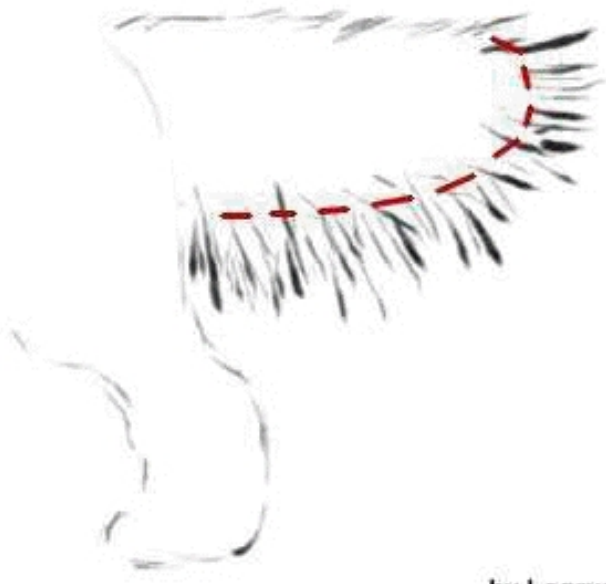

Written by Dawn Blaine -

Trimming the tail is not always necessary if it has the shape of a flag.

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

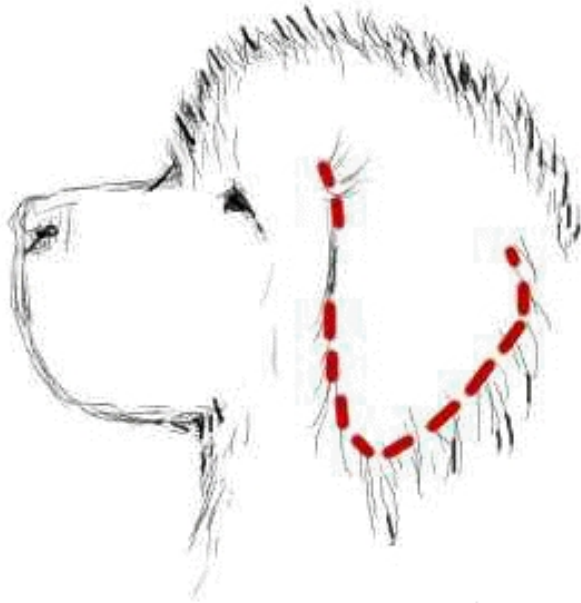

by Logrus

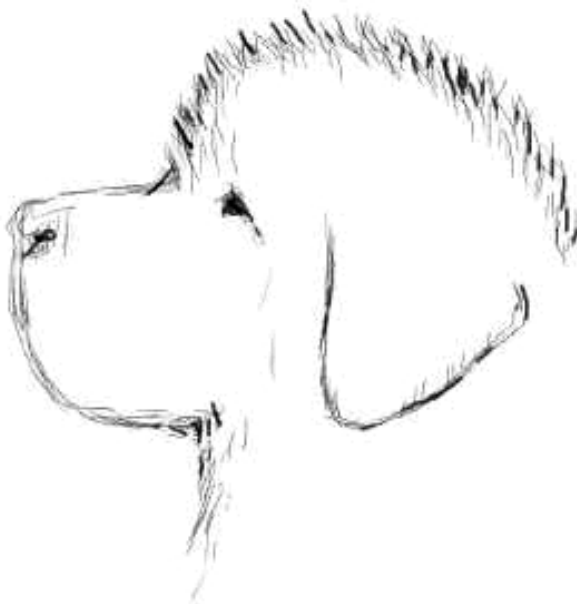

Beard with tip of the ear must be done first. the edge of the ear combing always

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

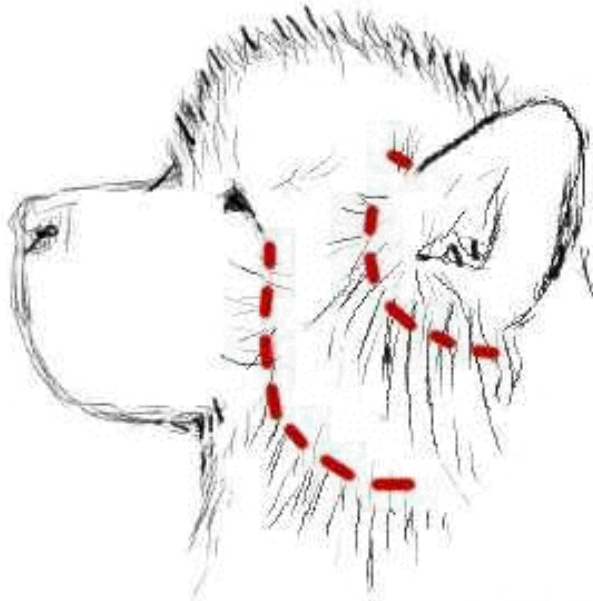

by Logrus

the hair under the ear, trim the hair that grows on the neck and under the ear. The hair grows under the ear, trim the hair that grows on

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

by Logrus

Often behind the eyes grows soft over-long hair that detracts from the shape of the head. Trim

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

by Logrus

Now hair on the top of the head. Comb it forward and trim to obtain a rounded shape.

Grooming

Written by Dawn Blaine -

by Logrus

by Logrus

Stand the dog on the ground and ask someone to move it in a gait. You will see the parts